PAPERS.

Mr. DALLEY laid upon the table of the House parts 5, 6, and 7 of the Statistical Register; sbetract of bank liabilities and assets for the quarter ending June 30; bylaws relating to the nunclepality of Narrabri, and correspondence respecting proposed annexation of New Guinea and the unappropriated islands of the Pacific.

Mr. A. CAMPHELL presented a petition from Civil ser-nate in favour of the Civil Service Bill. The petition was received.

DILLON'S ESTATE BILL. FIT ALPRED STEPREN, as chairman of the committee, ppointed for the puriose, brought up a report showing the saons why the Council had dissented from amendments ade by the Assembly in the Dillion's Estate Bill.

The proport was about 1.

RAILWAY-BOWRAL TO ROBERTSON. Mr. A. CAMPBELL moved that there be hald upon the ble of the House copies of all petitions, letters, minutes, ad other papers having reference to the construction of a illway between Bowrsi and Robertson.

CIVIL SERVICE BILL.

Mr. DALLEY moved that the proceedings in Committee the Whole on the Civil Service Bill (No. 2) which lapsed the House being counted out on the 15th instant, be by the House being counted out on the 15th instant, be now resumed.

Mr. PIDDINGTON resisted the motion. He thought that as they were at the end of a long and exhausting session. The Aitorney-General should permit the bill to remain off the paper. In addition to this good reason for their dropping the bill, they had excellent actuarial information that it would not be a success, as the proposed fund would not be of sufficient stability. It would keep the promise to the ear and break it to the hope. It would weigh heavily upon the younger members of the service, and he objected to the bill also because is provided advances of salary without due reference to the qualifications of their officers.

Mr. O. CAMPBELL said he was prepared to support the motion, because he desired that the Council should preserve its dignity by having the bill restored to the paper since it was counted out by the carelessness of hon. members.

Mr. MACINTOSH thought they should give the bill fairplay. He agreed with its principle, but it was recreately drawn that he did not anticipate its being a success. They should, the thought, reserve their consideration of it until a future session.

who consulted the dignity of the House would revered the restoration to the paper.

Mr. STEWART thought they required to have fuller information as to whether everyone in the Government employ was to derive advantages from the bill.

Sir ALFRED STEPHEN thought the bill should be

Sir ALFRED STEPHEN thought the bill should be restored to the paper.

Mr. DALLEY regretted that he was unable to adopt the view taken by Mr. Piddiacton, that because the bill had disappeared from the paper it should be abandoned by the Government. Its disappearance was due to the action of the hon, member, in which he stood almost alone, and was only caused by his hon, friend's own disappearance when a division was called for. To abandon the bill would be practically to give the control of the business to a single member who did not feel it incumbent on him to discharge his public duty by voting. To this he could not consent under any circumstances, for it would be placing the House under the despetten of the captice or unreasoning hostility of a single person. He had no disposition to again enter into a discussion of the subject, nor to vindicate the financial part of the scheme, which had been fully and properly discussed elsewhere. And, as he would not be influenced in his course of action by the hon, member's persistent heatilty, neither would he

PAPERS.

Mr. Dians laid on the table:—1. A return showing the traffic on the Newcasile, West Maitland, and Singleton lines of railway during the first six months of the present year. 2. Prodamatious relative to resumption of land at Lake Macquarie for public purposes. 3. Bylaws of the Borough of Narrabri; and 4. Statistical Register, 1883, parts v., vi. and vii.

Mr. Corras laid on the table information showing that only one prosecution had taken place in the colony (at Balmain) under the Adulteration of Foods Act, which had resulted in a dismissal.

across the open space in the function of St. James' road, King and Macquarit street; then under the Mint and a pertion of the linitrary grounds and into the Outer Domain; there through the Gardens formed on the site of the old Garden Palace; thence from the Inner Domain, passing between the stables and the guard-room at the Domain entrance; thence along and inside the Domain boundary fronting Macquarie-street, and terminating at Fort Macquarie Prom Redfern to Belmore-road a line would be formed on an embankment; thence to Warford-street on a vindort; thence to within a short distance of the Prince Albert Status in tunnel, with suffluent openings for light and ventilation. From the structure of the three to within a short distance of the Prince Albert Status in tunnel, with suffluent openings for light and ventilation. From the structure the time would be in tunnel again to the open space off. Fort Macquarie. The shurpest curve on this line would have a radius of twenty chains and the steepest gradient would be one in 75. The latter rate would be used from the Mint to near Yort Macquarie. The most saitable sites for stations on the extension would be between Goulburn and Liverpool streets, near the Prince Albert statute, and opposite to Albert-street, near the Water Police Office. The number of passengers travelling from the Redfern station and Bridge-street by the ratiway tram were shown to be from four to five millions; the reconstruction, and goods, making a total revenue of fitty millions at least, Judging from the present expenditure, sixty per event of this would be absorbed in working expenses, leaving £20,000 to pay interest on capital, which would give four per cent, of £556,000, which might be said to be the outside amount of capital required.

Mr. BURNS said no doubt hun members were much obliged to the Colonial Treasurer for having given them said to be the outside amount of capital required.

Mr. BURNS sail no doubt him members were much obliged to the Colonial Tressurer for having given them full notice of the fact that the Government intended to tesume the water frontages of Darling Harbour. The owners of the property in question would now have the opportunity of charging a good price for the land. He should like to know, however, from the Colonial Treasurer what sugineer was responsible tor the plan referred to, or whether Mr. Whitton was responsible.

man to show, newers, then the Colonial Pressurer was responsible for the plan referred to, or whether Mr. Whitton was responsible.

Mr. BURBS: Yes, he is,

Mr. BURDEKIN said he certainly did not fully understand the information given by the Colonial Tressurer. The proposel to construct the railway in question had been betwee the country for many years, and he contended that if they were to have a railway in the city for passenger traffic, it should be constructed in such a manner as to make it convenient for business people. He thought that if they went to great expense in connection with the construction of a city railway they should be able to do away with the trams. There were numeroes disadvantages in connection with the present tramway system, and it was found almost impossible for whickes to travel in streets in which the tram lites were laid. He contended that the proposed railway line would require to be constructed in a line as direct as possible from the itedient railway station, in order to be convenient for business people in George-street. The sailway should be in such a position that it would necommodate the traffic. The best causes would be in the direct line between these two points, and in the direction that the great bulk of the people would trawal. The estimate of £450,000 was much within the mark; the cot would be never a million. The purchase of land alone would be about double the estimated expenditure on that part of the work. The proposed starions would not accommodate the traffic at the intermediate expenditure on that part of the work. The proposed starions would not accommodate the traffic at the intermediate streets. These propositions, if carried out, would not sensure its purpose—it would not do away with the necessity for transways—it would not do away with the necessity for transways—it would not account of the estimate of the estimate of which so much had been made.

year. 2. Proclamations relative to resumption of land at Lake Macquarie for public purposes. 3. Bylaws of the Borough of Narrybri; and 4. Statistical Register, 1853, parts v., vi. and vii.

Mr. COREN laid on the table information showing that only one prosecution had taken place in the colony (at Ralmain) under the Adulteration of Foods Act, which had resulted in a dismissal.

It was ordered that the papers be printed.

PETIFIONS.

Mr. Abioall presented a petition from a public meeting held in Sydney on October 3, urging the passang of an onactment making it imperative upon all vessels energed in the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the wind passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the propers of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the propers of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the propers of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the propers of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the propers of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the process of the coastal trade of New South Wales to carry European craws, and to withhold passenger certificates from all vessible meeting that the line would cavry passengers.

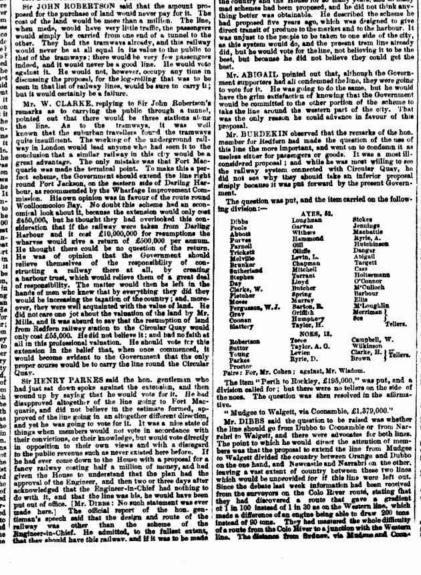

Mr. DIBRS said the line would cavry passengers and he would suggest that a line should be carred from for Macquarie down to Circular Quay.

Mr. HENK P ARK ES appealed to hon, members to say the the Nagina and he would the line and the coastal trade of the cade to the carred from for the carred from for the carred from for the car FETTIONS.

Mr. DIBBS resisted the idea of their adjourning. In was desirable that they should proceed with business at a seven or eight days.

Mr. GRIFFITHS recommended the Government in postpone the estimate, because it involved the constructe of the line between Grafton to Glen Innes, concerning which there was sure to be a large amount of discussion.

Mr. PROCTOR supported the suggestion.

Mr. MURRAY hoped it would not be adopted by the Government, as the people interested were unanimous in favour of the line as proposed.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON did not think such an inportant item should be passed at a quarter to 2 cluck in the morning, and moved that progress be reported.

Several hon, members having supported an adjournment the morning, and moved that progress be reported.

A correspondent of Nature, living about 200 yards from the river at West Chelesa, complains that mesquitees first appeared sparingly in the middle of July, but are now almost mightly visitors. There is too much reason to fear, he states, that they are thoroughly acclimatised in this part. Mosquitees and gnats are synonymous terms. Whenever the heat is greater than usual we constantly recive notices similar to the shove. Possibly it renders the gnats more vicious, and at the same time the object of their attacks more irritable. Gnats (mosquitees) inhabit water (not see-water) in their early stages, and from this reason it is practically impossible to import them, unless intentionally.

The balf-yearly meeting of the Sydney Marine Assurance Company will be held to-morrow (Wednes-day) morning, at 11 o'clock. A branch of the Australian Joint Stock Bank has been opened at Tamworth.

In the Import Market to-day, operations were on a restricted scale. Country orders continue small, and until there is a good downpour of rain throughout the interior the character of the trade is not likely to be stimulated very much. To day's weather telegrams report rain in many places, everywhere welcome because more or less needed, but not sufficient for the general requirements of the country. In breadstuffs, we note a fairly good trade demand at the following prices:—New South Wales, £9 to £9 10s.; Victorian, £8 10s. to £9 5s.; Adelaide, country brands, £8 15s, to £10, and town brands, £9 15s. to £10. Victorian, £8 10s. to £9 5s.; Adelaide, country brands, £8 15s. to £0, and town brands, £9 15s. to £10: epecial brands quoted at 5s. to 10s. extra. The tea trade to-day was quiet, with a firm market. To-morrow, about 4000 packages will be submitted publicly. The auction sale of groceries this morning passed over without business of importance. It was impossible to do business in augar at the reserved prices, and local growers will have to reduce their limits in the face of the large-consignments from outdide quarters. Low ration may be quoted at £17 to £20; yellow, from £22 to £24: low white, from £25 to £28; and good white to £81, with a largely stocked market of from £22 to £24: low white, from £25 to £28; and good white to £81, with a largely stocked market of almost every description. Dairy maid condensed milk, 7s. 4½d. Black Horse, coarse sait, to arrive, is selling at 75s.; Liverpool at 70s., business having been done at a shade less. A line of marmalade was sold under the hammer at 5s. 3d.; some lots of inferior fruit were also sold publicly at full rates; sound fruit generally is quoted at late prices. Privately, a line of sultanes was placed at a figure which did not transpire; ordinary parcels are obtainable at 7d. In fish, the demand is not very active; holders of good sardines are firm at 8s. and 5s. for halves and quarters respectively; tinned salmon may be quoted at up to and ince are firm at 8a, and 5a. for halves and quarters respectively; tinned salmon may be quoted at up to 6a. 6d. for best brands; inferior fish still obtainable at lower prices; for Moir's fresh herrings, 8a. 4½d. is required, other descriptions selling from 5a; https://doi.org/10.1006/st. 10.0006/st. 10.0006/st.

In metals, there was a rather better inquiry for gal-valised iron at rates about equal to those lately obtained. For pig iros the demand is limited, and holders have difficulty in obtaining 85a, the price at which business was recently done. Buyers are operating rather more freely in sheet lead, at 15s. 3d. to 15s. 6d., with a attengthening market. From 15s, to 16s. 6d, is still quoted for comeant; the bulk of the Hessia's shipment of 6735 casks of Aleen's which arrived to-day, having been sold to arrive, stocks in first hands will not be much affected.

The New Zesland Loan and Mercantils Agency Company, Limited, held their first wool sale of the season this afternoon, in their new warehouse, Bridgestreet. There was a very large attendance of buyers, Before the sale the company accepted an invitation to adjourn to a convenient luncheon-room adjoining the saleroom, and shampagne having been handed round, Mr. Henry Austin, on behalf of the buyers, proposed "Success to the New Zesland Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited," at the same time expressing his admiration of the very complete arrangements that had been made by the company for the conduct of their wool business. The tosst having been drunk with great heartiness, was appropriately responded to by Mr. Lang, on behalf of the company. The sale was then proceeded with. The catalogue comprised 17:30 bales. Competition was animated, and 1300 bales were disposed of, the sale throughout being the most auccessful that has Quennectiff.—Bepatture: October 21, Karawers (a), from Srdary

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Dalley moved that the proceedings in committed of the whole on the Civil Service Bill No., which lapsed by the House being counted out on the 15th instant, be now resumed.

The motion was agreed to, and the consideration of the bill was resumed in committee.

Clauses 4 to 48 were dealt with, and an amendment was moved in clause 49, which, when the House adjourned at 7 minutes past 10 class upon until 4 clock on Wedneeday.

Mr. SPRARER announced that the Governor had, is the name of her Majesty, assented to the Sarisier Estimation, the Mining Leases Validation Bill, the Countraint Acts Amendment Bill, and the Public Weissier Division Bill.

Lands Acts Amendment Bill, and the Pablic Weiering Places Bill.

Ministers laid on the table the following papers—Return of traffic on the Great Northern Rallwy; proclamation relative to resumption of land at Lais Macquarie for public purposes: bylaws of the borogic of Narribri; parts 5, 8 and 7 of the Statistical Registr for 1883; return of a prosecution under the Adulisation of Foods Act.

Mr. Absolut presented a petition from a pakin meeting held in Sydney, praying that all vessis engaged in the coastal trade of New South Wais should be compelled to carry European crews.

Mr. A. G. Taylon presented a petition from William Jackson, late of the Permanent Artillary, praying the House to take into consideration the circumstance under which he was refused re-calistment in the Force.

Mr. COHEN moved that the Speaker leave the chir, and the House recoive itself into Committee of Suppl. Mr. Bunnenn saked the hon. Treasures whethe is would agree to adjourn the debate on the railway policy at an early hour—asy 12 o'clock. The health of homembers was beginning to suffer from these late hour. Mr. Bunns also hoped the hon. Treasurer would agree to an early adjournment.

Mr. Abbort said sufficient unto the day was the will thereof. The Government would be prepared to any what they would do when 12 o'clock came.

The first item put was City Extension, 1 mils 76 chains, £450,000.

Mr. Abboard asked for some information with repair to this line.

Mr. Bunns asked what engineer was responsible for the estimate of £450,000 now before them, which seemed a very small sum.

Mr. Bunners thought the extension of the railway into the city ought to be such as would do sway with the tram way system. The line ought to go where the

Mr. Poors said if the railway went along the bus-ness route it would cost at least ten millions, while the route now proposed would be comparatively inexpe-sive. At the same time the line could be extended round the Circular Quay to Darling Harbour. But if that was to be done he would ask what was the us of paving the Circular Quay with wooden blocks? Hargarded the present proposal not as a local matter, be as a national one, and he should support the proposal Mr. Buns wanted the Government to inform his whether this line was to carry heavy goods traffic at was to be only a passenger line. Sir Henry Parkers said it was impossible to userstand what was intended by this line. This was a fancy line of the Ministers, and there was no svidens that it would serve the purpose for which it was intended. Mr. Bunns said the Colonial Treasurer had disclinated a document as the report of the Engineerin-Chief with regard to certain lines, but there was a report from the Engineerin-Chief with regard to the present proposal. They ought to know whether the setimate was that of the Engineer-in-Chief or not.

Mr. Dines said he had just received an estimate from Mr. Whitton, after going more carefully over the saiter, to the effect that £470,000 would cover the whole cost of this line.

Mr. Anicata objected to this line because it did not meet the wants of the mercantile community. At the same time he should not oppose this vote.

Mr. Garrans supported the present proposal, lecking upon it as an instalment of a general scheme to the railway round by Darling Harbour.

Mr. Anicata cashed if the proposed line would interfere with the use of Hyde Park by the public.

Mr. Diens said the park would not be interfered with more than was absolutely necessary.

It is pleasant to find that, in regard to the giving of religious teaching in l'ublic schools, action which has been taken by the Bishop of Synney has the approval of all the Bishops of New South Wales. The docuwhich we published on Monday may be looked upon as an endorsement of a policy, and as a call to duty. The churchmen of the colony are reminded of the "infinite importance" of the question of religious instruction, and the duty of using the opportunities which the Act affords is pressed upon both the clergy and the laity. It may be too much to suppose that either are eager to obey the word of command, or that the response to the declaration of the House of Bishops as general or as enthusiastic the Bishops themselves desire. During the last eighteen years many attempts have been made to utilise the provisions the law. It will not be forgotten that the opportunities which are offered by the So far as the giving of religious instruction is concerned, the provisions of the Act of 1880 are substantially those of the Act which it repealed. How little these provisions have been regarded in different parts of the colony need not be pointed out. Nine en regarded in different ten years ago the Provincial Synod ed a resolution with a view to giving of religious instruction in ic schools, but the result was not considerable. In too many instances the clergy n more anxious to find fault with th Public Schools Acts than to work in them. The late Bishop of NEWCASTLE used to protest against the charge of Godleseness which has been so frequently made against the schools of the colony, but so far as some clergy are concerned without ect. The Bishops may find that it is easier to propound a scheme for the giving of religious instruction than this is the first time that we have had a formal declaration from the House of Bisheps.

teaching a part of the ordinary course. The idea is that the teaching given under this clause can "be made to tell with no inconthe general religious instruction a substantial reality through the free and thorough teaching of the Scripture determine official action." From this it may be inferred that though the Bishops are prepared to accept the Scripture lessons which are now taught in the schools, they hope to make a much larger use of them than cannot be secured by appeals to the Govern-and unless the heads of the Churches are wise drift of opinion has certainly not been in the direction indicated by the House of Bishops. An agitation for more than the present regulations supply would probably end in in a Parliamentary paper lately the giving of less. As now administered, eventh clause may not supply very much, but it supplies all that meant to be supplied, and all that is practicable under the composite system to which the country has agreed. In this particular at least, any attempt to improve the system will destroy it. The religious instruction that now given in the schools cannot be reasonably objected to by Protestants or by Catholics but a freer and a more comprehensive course would be objected to by both. The Churches have a right to demand that the law, as interpreted by the regulations, be faithfully carried out; that not only the Scripture lessons, but the general religious les appointed by the Department, he honestly given by the teachers, and that there he the same regard to results where zeligious lessons are concerned as where other concerned. Nobody can complain of Churches going so far as this; but very little good will come of their going farther. The supply of a comprehensive cour instruction under the seventh clause of the Act is the less necessary from the fact that instruction as free and as thorough as can be wished may be supplied under the seventeenth clause. This clause gives to the representatives of the Churches the right of entering the Public schools any day in the week, and of teaching what they the way they think best. Under this clause the Bishops themselves say "the Church is able to do her duty to the children ommitted to her charge with the same freedom as in her own schools," and freedom accorded to one Church is offered to all. It is to be regretted that, in a sphere in which the Churches enjoy a common privilege, they could not agree to some common acti But it is better that the instruction for which the Act provides should be given in what seems to be the only possible way, than that it should not be given at all. The Bishops it should not be given at all. have agreed that, so far as they are concerne he opportunity which the Act supplies shall be improved; and it is to be hoped that in this they will be supported by the clergy and the laity. But even if the present movement should prove as fruitless as some of the move-ments that have preceded it, the fact will remain that the Act gives the Churches their freedom and a freedom with which they ought to be satisfied.

The gentlemen who waited upon the MINISTER FOR JUSTICE On Saturday as a deputation from the Local Option League, are in large measure entitled to public sympathy. Their object was a good one. Believit the sale of liquor on Sundays is an evil, and that the law passed for its suppression is extensively evaded, they made strong representations to the MINISTER with the view of procuring such action on his part as would esult in the law being more effectively enforced. No one, we imagine, who has a du regard for the public interest, will deny that respect for the Civil authority is likely to be diminished, and that the cause of order and good government will suffer, when laws that were intended for the public good are evaded with impunity extensively. But when the existence of such a state of things is discovered, the question to be considered is not always so simple as at first sight it may appear to who complained of breaches of the law against siderable effect on the instruction and tone of the schools;" and "with a view to more than suspicion is required; and the The magistrates hold that something sary for the enforcement of the law that magisterial decisions shall be allowed to lessons," the Bishops "press the duty rest upon suspicion or presumption as a sufficient basis, it becomes a question whether the public opinion, which must always largely the law itself is sound, or suited to the cir-

The licensing law must be administered judicially on the principles that govern the administration of other laws. When a publican is charged with breaking the law. has hitherto been the custom. This can only be done by abolishing the present regulations, by giving to each candidate in the training schools what will be held to be a theological course of instruction, and by leaving each teacher free to accompany the Scripture lessons with his own notes and comments. That must be what the Bishops mean by the free and thorough teaching of the Scripture lessons, and thorough teaching of the scripture lessons, and thorough teaching of the scripture lessons, and the hope seems to the scripture lessons, and the hope seems to the scripture lessons and the scripture lessons are to the scripture lessons and the scripture lessons are to the scripture lessons and the scripture lessons are to the scripture lessons are to the scripture lessons and the scripture lessons are to the scrip the Scripture lessons; and the hope seems to that, in his opinion, a combination of circumbe, that if this free and thorough teaching stances which sufficed to satisfy the police ment, it must be secured by appeals to that Sunday selling was carried on in it, public opinion. It is almost certain, how-should be sufficient to satisfy the magistrates be appealed to in vain. Such a free and thorough teaching as the Bishops are thinkbably be that, instead of getting more who have, perhaps, but little familiarity with religious instruction under the seventh clause the considerations by which judicial action is than we now have, we should get less. In the governed, may be ready to say that when neighbouring colonies, such provisions as the such statements as those referred to are one referred to have been abolished altogether, made, they supply all the evidence or proof and unless the heads of the Churches are wise that is required. Let justice generally be designation. Our argument is not against legit, that is precisely what will happen here. The administered after that fashion, and there mate charity, but against those abuses of it which would soon be some startling results.

The complaints of the deputation were partly founded upon the correspondence contained The INSPECTOR-GENERAL informs the COLONIAL apply any effectual remedy to the evasion of the law complained of." Two inspectors and a sub-inspector of the Metropolitan Police state the impossibility of procuring convictions for Sunday selling, and report the failure of their objections against the renewal of licenses. The magistrates of the Water Police Court explain that they had not felt justified in acting on a mere suspicion, however well founded, and that, in their view, objections should be specifically laid down, and fairly substantiated. And, finally, the MINISTER FOR JUSTICE, in a minute, admits that it is for the Court to decide, before acting, whether there is sufficient evidence to act upon. He appears, however, to hint that such statements as those referred to may form strong grounds for "presuming" that the law is being evaded, and be sufficient to throw upon the lessee the onus of proving that there as no infringement; and, further, that the Court might regard such evidence as "sufficient to establish a prima facie case sgainst the alleged offender." Mr. Conex is not very likely to find the magistrates acting upon these hints. When they deal with charges ministerially, they are free to recognise prima free cases and strong presumptions of guilt suggested by evidence thoroughly investigated by a higher tribunal. giving judgment themselves, they will probaok for more conclusive grounds for their decisions. Mr. Cohen very properly disclaims any desire to give directions to the magis-trates; but, at the same time, he suggests that if they would adopt his views a great deal would be done towards suppressing Sunday trading. Suppose he were to suggest that the efforts of the police to cope successfully with all forms of crime would be facilitated if the Courts would generally found convictions upon strong presumptions and arine facie cases that tell far short of proof. That would hardly be accepted by the public. It may be admitted that Sunday closing has diminished the number of acresis for drunkenness. has yet to be shown that it has struck at the drinking habits of the people. There is reason for suspecting that it has done something to develop home drinking. We may say that there is a strong presumption— a prima facie case—to that effect. We do not follow the chief speaker of the deputation in demanding at once the condemnation of the law because of the presumption against it. But it may well be asked whether, for the support of a law so doubtful in its tendencies, the magistrates would be justified in laying down the rule that the man who is accused shall be adjudged guity on the strength of a presumption unless he prove hi

The Assembly has at last voted for the taking of the railway into the city, and by a majority 53 to 13. If this announcement will g satisfaction, it may occasion some surprise. It has not been the custom of the House to deal in this way with a proposal to carry the line from Rediern to the Circular Quay. It must also be acknowledged that in some respects the route proposed by the Government is not the for the giving of religious instruction than to get it generally and patiently worked. But it is something that the Bishops as a body have agreed upon a scheme. Often as something religious instruction in Public schools, this is the first time that we have had a who complained of breaches of the law against this is the first time that we have had a formal declaration from the House of Bishops. The declaration is no doubt due to the energy of Dr. Barky. The Bishop of Sydney has led, and the rest of the Bishops have followed, and though there are many who may not be able to agree with all that the Bishops say and do, there are few who will not commend their determination to accept the Act and make the best of it.

What will strike most persons is that the prelates expect too much from the seventh clause, the clause that makes general religious teaching a part of the ordinary course. The data is that the teaching given under this clause can "be made to tell with no inconsideration of the Act be proved in evidence of the police of the superior of the objections urced against the Government proposals were reasonable enough, but others were reasonable at all. There are at law in £21,212 18s. let, they have been able for the time £21,212 18s. let, they have been able for the fine £21,212 18s. let, they have been able for the fine £21,212 18s. let, they have been able for £21,212 18s. let, they have b of the objections urged against the Government heid that the direction of a city line should be the direction that is taken by men of business, and then maintained that the proper route for the city line is along Darling Harbour. Some of those who objected to the Government proposals affected to wonder that members could vote for a route that had its drawbacks; but after so much delay any possible line would have its drawbacks. The question that presented itself was the scheme proposed. on that presented itself was the scheme proposed by the Government or nothing. Thirteen honour-able members preferred the latter, fifty-three the former; and there can be little question as to which consulted the interests of the city and of the colony generally.

To what extent and to what persons out-door relief should be given at the Benevolent Anylum, are questions admitting wide differences of opinion. The letter of our correspondent, Mawy E. Winderen on Tuesday, is unanswerable in theory; it is in practice that the policy recommended, as opposed to that of the Inspector of Charities, so often breaks down. Of course, home is the place for children; everybody knows that, and knows also that everything possible ought to be done to keep children there, so long as the place bearing that name answers to it in character. It is just there that the pinch comes in, and the logic is just there that the pinch comes in, and the logic of the INSPECTOR'S facts is atronger than that of our correspondent's theory. It does not of the INSPECTOR'S facts is stronger than that of our correspondent's theory. It does not help the case to say that the fault lies, not in the system, but in its maladministration. This is making the matter rather worse by reflecting on the directors. Their reply would be that charity has to be dispensed where it is needed, whether thorough teaching as the Bishops are thinking about was never the intention of the Legislature, and could never be sanctioned by the Department. The method of giving religious instruction which is now employed is whilst a different method of animinstering outdoor relief might find more deserving persons than are relieved now, it might break up families which have ceased to honour that name, and homes to which it would be proper to give a very different designation. Our argument is not against legiti-

It has been decided not to abolish the Egyptian army as originally proposed, but to limit it to 3000 men, and at the same time to increase the numerical strength of the police force. The establish-ment of a British protectorate over a portion of New Guinea appears to have given a stimulus to missionary preparations are being made to despatch in Catholic mission to the island. As o eaders well know. Protestant missionaries have been long and successfully working among the aborigines of that country which is just at present being so much talked of and written about. On Monday a terribly destructive fire raged in Moscow, doing damage to the extent of about £428,000. One of the most interesting occurrences in the Legislative Council yesterday was the announcement by the President that the Governor had seconted to the by the President that the Governor had assented to the Crown Lands Bill. Notwithstanding the magnitude of the measure, and the many months during which it has engaged public and Parliamentary attention, and notwithstanding the supposition that hos, gentlemen would experience a sense of relief that it had been finally disposed of, the announcement made by the President did not soper to have in any degree inspired a feeling of thankfulness, and but for Mr. Thornton's "Hear, hear," it would have passed in silence. The President also announced that the Public Watering Places Bill, the Serisier's Estate Bill, and the Mining Lesses Validating Bill had been assented the Mining Leases Validating Bill had been assented to after which the consideration of the Civil Service Bill was further proceeded with in committee, and deals with as far as clause 49.

The Legislative Assembly got to business early The Legislative Assembly got to commiss early secteday, there not having been any obstructive motion for the adjournment moved. Mr. Speaker announced that the Governor had assented to several bills, including the Land Bill. The House then went into Committee of Supply for the further consideration of the railway proposal of the Government. The item for the exte the city was carried by 53 to 13. Another long dis-cussion took place in reference to the Mudgee and Walgett line, Mr. Abigail moved the reduction of the item by a quarter of a militon. This was negatived, and so was the vote itself, the division on the latter being 53 to 13. The item of £378,000, for the line from Inverell to Gien Innes, 45 miles, was then put, and, after considerable discussion, was carried on a division of 47 to 13.

The select committee of the Legislative Assembly appointed to inquire whether any and what damage had been done to the Society of Oddfellows in carrying on their business in the hall in Elizabeth-street, in consequence of the running of the tram motors through that street, have brought up the following report:

"I. That the present site of the Oddfellows Hall in Elizabeth-street was selected and purchased by the members of the Society of Oddfellows, Manchester Unity, because of its retired, pleasent, and healthy position, facing the public park, and the buildings thereon have been rendered totally unsuited for the purpose for which they were intended and used. BERRIMA RACES.

The Berrims annual district race meeting was held to-day, when the attendance only numbered between 200 and 300 people, owing to the threatening state of the weather. A heavy storm passed over the locality immediately after the first race, and the rain fell in torrents. This was followed by a second storm of hall, which was very heavy at Moss Vele about half an hour afterwards, which made the course very heavy and situally. Appended are the results of the racing:—

All the preliminary arrangements were completed without delay, and after the lapse of 10 minutes the flag fell, the lot being despatched to a fair start, the first to break the line being Sandiway. She, bowever, only showed in front for a few strides, and then Cambusanors and Superba drew to the front, the pair going on side by side in front for a few strides, and then Cambusanors and Superba drew to the front, the pair going on side by side in front of Sandiway, Hermitage, Somerion, and bir Renben, with Harvoster, Cornelle, and The Lambkin next, the lot being whipped in by Denosster Cup. Little alteration in the above order took place for a quarter of a mile, and then Hermitage took up the running and carried it on with Harvoster, Superba, and Sir Reuben in immediate attendanos, well up with them being The Lambkin, Cornelle, and Somerion. As they commenced to go up the hill Somerion took second place to Hermitage, the pair being followed by Cornelle, in close company with the latter being The Lambkin fourth, Superba fifth, Harvoster sixth, and Sir Reuben seventh, with Scot Free. Cambusanore, and Sandiway next. In this order they went over the hill and out of sight, but on reappearing from the dip Hermitage was joined by Cormelle and Somerton, the other positions being unchanged to the Riffe Butts, passing which Cormelle and Cornelled continued showing the way to the half-mile post, where Somerton dropped back, and the retirement of Lord Ellesmeer's cold was quickly followed by Cormellie, and Hermitage was left at the head of affairs, with The Lambkin and Sir Reuben in the order named. Somerton in Lord Blesmeer's cold was quickly followed by Cormellie, and Hermitage was left at the head of affairs, with The Lambkin and Sir Reuben in the order named. COLO VALLEY SURVEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HEBALD.

Sir.—A pursuraph appeared in your paper a few days ago in which it is stated that a Mr. Townsend had discovered a practicable route for a railway from Rylstone to Caportee, down the Colo River to a junction with the Western Rail-down the Colo River was necessary and the Rut Plains.

As I understand that Mr. Townsend has only surveyed about 20 miles out of a supposed distance of 105 miles, and this by far the easiest part of the route, I fail to see how any reliance can be pisced on his statements as to the gradients, curves, or cost of the proposed line.
